Round Robin a Big Colt.

Round Robin is one of the biggest wo-year-olds in training. He resembles giant three-year-old. He has an abunthese of stamina and plenty of speed when he can get his big, long stride working property. Among the experiments tried out by Coach Rush to-day was the use of Macker and the training table was started to-night in the Osborn field house, which has long been noted as the meeting place of Princeton's football strategy board. About thirty men will be kept at the training tables, but no cut has as yet been made in the squad.

The experiment appeared to be successful, as the new back made several good gains and showed a let of speed. He has been looking up as a promising end but Coach Rush has apparently decided that his real forte lies behind the line.

The balance of the backfield was unchanged, with Shiverick at quarter, Davies at left half and Shuler at full-back. These men seem reasonably certain of helding the above and the first string field combination.

That the schoolboys are to play football on a more extensive scale this season than ever is evident by the length of their school the sport has there ever been so many sectional games arranged as there are this season. In former years Flushing was the only local school to play an intersectional game. The Long Islanders for the last three years wound up their season with a game wiff Central High of Binghamton. This year Frasmus Hall, Hamilton Incompeted in the six races on the fint.

The fourth race, a claiming handlong at six furings, was the best of the day. I went to Fort Blies, ridden by Coltiletti, with Grimaikin second and The Decision third.

The chase for three-year-olds at two miles was won by Wyndover, ridden by Vincent Fowers. Have A Heart was second and Gargoyle was third. Eleven horses competed and considering their age all jumped well.

Coltiletti and Wida, two apprentice lads, carried off the honors in the saddle. Each rode two winners. The summaries: footsteps of Fiushing. Of the six sectional games to be played by the local lads Hamilton will be the only team to play its game at home. The Blue and Red is to tackle the East Aurora High School eleven of Illinois on the Polo Grounds on December 5.
